

CONTENTS

Chapter	Paragraphs	Page
I. HUMAN RIGHTS TRAINING METHODOLOGY	1-14	1
A. Collegial presentations	2	1
B. Training the trainers	3	1
C. Interactive pedagogical techniques	4	1
D. Audience specificity	5	1
E. A practical approach	6	1
F. Comprehensive presentation of standards	7	2
G. Teaching to sensitize	8	2
H. Flexibility of design and application	9	2
I. Competency-based	10	2
J. Evaluation tools	11	2
K. The role of self-esteem	12	2
L. Linkage to organizational policy	13	2
M. Planned follow-up	14	2
II. EFFECTIVE TRAINING TECHNIQUES	15-38	3
A. Learning objectives	15-16	3
B. Tailoring courses	17	3
C. The participatory method	18-20	3
D. Participatory techniques	21-36	4
E. Locations for training courses	37	5
F. Planning for participants' needs	38	5
III. TRAINERS	39-47	7
A. Selection of trainers	39-40	7
B. Briefing trainers	41	7
C. Instructions for trainers	42	7
D. Tips for making presentations	43	8
E. Key terminology	44	9
F. Adapting courses to challenging field conditions	44-47	9
IV. AN INTRODUCTION TO HUMAN RIGHTS AND THE UNITED NATIONS HUMAN RIGHTS PROGRAMME	48-84	10
A. What is meant by "human rights"?	49-50	10
B. Some examples of human rights	51	10
C. What is "development"?	52	11
D. The right to development	53-54	11
E. How does a "rights-based approach" to development differ from a "needs-based approach"?	55	11
F. Where do human rights "rules" come from?	56-64	11
G. Who makes these rules?	65	12
H. Where are the rules made?	66-70	12
I. Who monitors human rights?	71-77	12
J. The role of the High Commissioner for Human Rights	78	13
K. Institution-building and technical cooperation	79-80	13
L. Enforcement	81-83	14
M. How are human rights complaints and petitions handled?	84	14
ANNEX: The Universal Declaration of Human Rights		15